

Downtown East Side Outreach Worker

The Nuu-chah-nulth Tribal Council (NTC) is seeking a term (to March 31, 2027), full time Downtown East Side Outreach Worker to do outreach, establish relationships, conduct wellness checks with Nuu-chah-nulth people at risk and living in the East Vancouver community. Under the day-to-day supervision of the All Nations Outreach Society this outreach worker will help people struggling with addictions and will provide holistic and ongoing support to those ready to heal. This position will work occasional evenings and weekends and in some cases support Nuu-chah-nulth-aht to travel home to reconnect to families and their communities.

Responsibilities Include

- Establish ongoing, respectful and trauma-informed client relationships based on trust;
- Facilitate cultural activities such as smudging, brushing, etc. where appropriate and comfortable for the client;
- Work collaboratively with cross-sector service provider/partners (i.e., mental health services providers, employment programs and other social service agencies) in developing individualized and effective, strength-based, and culturally competent support plans;
- Provide ongoing support for treatment including follow up (i.e., reminders of appointments, transportation to pharmacies for medication);
- Liaise with other staff and resources in responding to crisis situations and mobilize community strength in response.

Preferred Qualifications

- Minimum one year of professional (ideally working with the at-risk population) or lived experience providing support to Indigenous individuals or communities experiencing barriers to wellness, ideally within the Downtown East Side (DTES);
- Required to be clean and sober, and must also be on a healing journey that includes ongoing personal self-care, healthy routine, and navigating a substance-free lifestyle (including cannabis) while working through the emotional and mental challenges of recovery;
- Overdose response training or willingness to get training;
- Preference will be given to qualified candidates of First Nations ancestry and with demonstrated knowledge of Nuu-chah-nulth culture, governance and traditions.
- Having a car and possessing a BC Driver's License considered an asset.

Hourly wage range $34.62 – $39.01 with an attractive benefit package. Working 35 hours per week.
