What You'll Do

This internship gives you hands-on experience in real-world fisheries work. You'll support our team with:

- Salmon, groundfish and shellfish monitoring
- Data collection and entry
- Helping with research, fieldwork and report writing
- Working on the water and in the office

What We're Looking For:

You don't need to be an expert — just eager to learn and ready to dive in!

- Age 18–30 (funding requirement)
- Interested in Fisheries or Natural Resource Management
- Familiarity with Nuu-chah-nulth culture & fisheries a big plus
- Comfortable on boats and in/around water
- Able to travel (sometimes overnight)
- Decent fitness (you might be hiking a bit or lifting gear)
- Writing and good communication skills
- Some computer skills (Word, Excel, Email)
- Able to work solo or with a team
- Driver's license and reliable vehicle
- Provide acceptable criminal record check

Apply by: 12:00 pm (noon), May 29, 2025, by emailing your cover letter, resume and 3 references (available to call) to apply@nuuchahnulth.org or send to:
